How to Cure Rheumatism.

ARAGO, Coos Co., Ore., Nov. 10, 1893. I wish to inform you of the great good Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done my wife. She has been troubled with rheumatism of the arms and hands for six months, and has tried many remedies prescribed for that complaint, but found no relief until she used this Pain Balm; one bottle of which has completely cured her. I take pleasure in recommending it for that trouble. Yours truly, C. A. BULLOCK. 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by The Chas. Lyle Drug Company.

"Fast Mail."

What promises to be the greatest attempt in the era of realism will be seen at the Academy next Tuesday evening, in the melodrama of Lincoln J. Carter's "Fast Mail." The play is famous throughout the country for the completeness and magnitude of its mechanical effects. The production is under the personal supervision of its author—Lincoln J. Carter. Special scenery is carried for the ten complete sets used in the play. In the second act a steamboat is shown with the boiler rooms and their intricate machinery, and the glowing furnaces. The boat is blown up by a tremendous explosion, and the wreck is seen going down in mid river. The great railway scene is another of the unprecedented achievements of their performance in the direction of realism. A freight train of fourteen cars is run across the stage with an illuminated caboose and a practical locomotive. The fireman and engineer are seen at their respective stations—looks like reality itself. A mail train comes speeding by and catches the mail pouch just as everyone has seen it do many times.

In the last act Niagara falls are shown in all their natural beauty. A cataract of real water is put on the stage, and it boils and foams in the most natural way. The soft moonlight adds to the effect, and the scene needs only the addition of the suspension bridge to complete the effect of reality.

"Wang" Coming Soon.

Manager Hooper has been fortunate enough to secure for his patrons the comic opera "Wang," which last season gained golden opinions everywhere. The theatre-going public is always in search of novelties but in this day of so many stage novelties which disappoint, the coming of an old and tried friend like "Wang" is indeed a welcome anticipation. Novelty will, to a certain extent, but most pleasingly, also enter into next week's production of the merry opera, for there will be many new and pretty faces, many new, fresh and youthful voices, new scenery and costumes more costly than were lavished upon it in the days when it was an experiment. These new features will, however, be but the settings for the same merry opera.

Those who saw it before will all the more anxiously desire to hear "The Man With An Elephant On His Hands," "A Pretty Girl, a Summer Night," "You Must Ask of the Man in the Moon," and all the other catchy songs that have become so popular, but, thank fortune, have not yet become part of the repertoire of the hand-organ. The opera's mirth provoking story, with its complications involving an oriental prince regent and a Europeanized heir to the throne, French widows and maidens, Parisian dancing girls, Cambodian and Burmese envoys, has never laid claim to depth, but it has given many a person as delightful an evening as he could ask for.

These pictures were superbly executed in colors by a firm of art publishers who were obliged to liquidate their business, their productions being too expensive for these hard times.

The entire stock was purchased by us and what originally cost thousands of dollars will now be given away to attract attention to our NATIONAL COLLECTION OF FLOWER SEEDS, for the season of 1895. The published price of these pictures was $1.00, but we will send them (a selected series of seven) as a reward to every person finding and marking the three daughters' faces with an X and enclosing same with sixteen two-cent stamps for NATIONAL COLLECTION No. 1, containing an immense variety of the choicest and most beautiful flower seeds.
